Yakov Hi

I've started to look more closely at potential business development opportunities. I can see several layers of possible ideas to be screened: immediate, in the coming week; midterm, during Feb or March 2014; longer term, later in 2014. The timeline results just arbitrarily from the availability of the persons involved. It could happen that the later opportunities will be more interesting than the immediate ones.

For this week, I propose to consider visit with Mr. Motti Zisser in Greece to get direct impression of the Old Athens Airport bid which is a 600 hectars development project into commercial and residential site. Greek Gov has to sell it as well as other nine big privatisation projects under demands from the EU. Mr Zisser propose to take us same day to Bucharest to see another smaller (10 hectars) real-estate opportunity as well as a hotel, both at the center of the City. Motti Zisser (A.K.A Moti Ziser) is an IL businessman in control of Elbit Imaging (NASDAC traded) as well as other businesses mainly in Eastern Europe. He should be under stress these days (and trying to hide it) as a result of post crisis debt issues.

I propose that if we decide to act this week we will also get, probably Thursday to London and meet with Idan Ofer(a son of the late Sammy Ofer and a brother to Eyal Ofer), 2nd generation Billionaire of IL roots who lives in London. Main shareholder in The Israel Corp. the biggest holding company in IL and many other operations from chemicals to power generating, from shipping to energy and renewables in other continents. He should also be stressed by recent legislation in IL as well as post crisis and cyclical challenges at other businesses. He mentioned to me certain project in Nigeria re oil production, but other ideas I believe could be surveyed.

if you find it worth the time to be spent let me know, i will have to verify that the trip can still be executed this week as planned. Assuming that's the case, you can come to IL Tuesday night or Wed morning. we can then take Zisser's private plane to Athens and Bucharest and fly from Bucharest to London on Thursday morning..

You can easily find more info re both individuals and their businesses over the web.

For the mid term and longer term phases I think of initiating screening of opportunities in Greece, Italy, Spain as well as Columbia,Canada, Kazakhstan and probably Argentina. i think these are better to be discussed face to face.

waiting for your response..
Best regards to Victor
